

BTS Curations Private Limited is a 78 year old educational travel company that operates under the brand name I-India. I-India is a Chennai-based educational travel company that specializes in crafting customized and personalized faculty-accompanied study abroad programs for Universities and executive education programs for Corporates. Originally established as "Bharat Travel Service Private Limited" in 1946, the company's primary mission was to provide essential ground services to British and European academics and museums, conducting field visits and educational expeditions to archaeological and anthropological sites throughout India.

Over the years, the company expanded its offerings to support U.S.-based educational travel companies and non-profit organizations, such as Elderhostel, Road Scholars, and the American Museums Association. Beginning in 2006, I-India entered into a partnership with Tuck Executive Education at Dartmouth, leveraging its unique expertise to deliver authentic experiences in emerging markets as part of Tuck's flagship executive education program - Global Leadership.

Subsequently, I-India has established itself as a specialist in emerging markets, delivering immersion experiences for executives and university study abroad programs not only in India but also in China, Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia, Indonesia, New Zealand, Fiji, Kenya, Australia, Tanzania, and Colombia.
